

Integrated Cybersecurity for Critical Services

We are the largest ICT company in Croatia and a leader in the export segment of ICT software development services. In the telecommunications segment, we deliver a wide range of information and communication products, solutions and services. We develop advanced, secure and sustainable solutions for national and public security, crisis management and defense, protection of mission critical infrastructure and preservation of digital sovereignty. Special attention is paid to cybersecurity, a key pillar of security in a modern digital society and a fundamental prerequisite for preserving sovereignty, data protection, and infrastructure resilience in crisis situations. In addition to offering comprehensive solutions for the protection of key ICT systems, cyber security is integrated into all our products, applications and solutions through the Secure by Design methodology which ensures the highest level of protection, from the design phase, through development and implementation, all the way to maintenance.
